

SMU TOWER CENTER

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS

About:

The John G. Tower Center offers research fellowships to SMU undergraduate students that emphasize ability and interest in research on public policy, government, and international affairs. Successful applicants will work closely with SMU faculty to contribute toward ongoing faculty research or develop their own, faculty-advised research project. Undergraduate fellows will be introduced to substantive issues, appropriate research methodologies and techniques, research design, and theory development.

Funding: Each fellow will receive a stipend of $5,000, distributed in 4 equal sums over 2 years.

The fellow will be designated as one of four undergraduate fellowships:

- Edwin L. Cox Fellowship
- Al G. Hill, Jr. Fellowship
- Tom Bryant Medders, Jr. Fellowship
- Henry S. Miller Fellowship

Continuation of the stipend will depend upon satisfactory performance and progress on the research project.

Requirements:

1. Application Form to include:
 - a. Unofficial Transcript with a minimum GPA of 3.3.
 - b. Two letters of recommendation from SMU faculty.
 - i. One letter must be from a faculty member who agrees to serve as faculty advisor for the duration of the proposed research project.
 - ii. One letter must be from a faculty member who has taught the applicant.
 - c. 500–700-word research project proposal (i.e. one page double-spaced) including the research project's objectives and applicant's motivations in seeking this fellowship.
 - d. Resume
2. Applicants must be in the second semester of their sophomore year and will serve as a fellow during their junior and senior years.

Deliverables:

- Submit research for participation in the SMU Undergraduate Research Poster Presentation
