

Geothermal energy producers need to know their well performance. Current monitoring techniques cannot provide data continuously.

Well response